TOLEDO'S REBELS BLOWN TO PIECES

Two Mines Sprung Beneath Crowded Alcazar

FEW SURVIVORS FIGHT WITH HIGH COURAGE

Toledo, Sept. 18.

Loyalists to-day dynamited the historic Alcazar of Toledo, which has been defended for weeks by a grimly determined force of rebels, with their women and children among them. It is believed that the majority of over 1,200 persons within the Alcazar perished in the terrific blast.

Two mines were exploded, each of 300 pounds of dynamite. They shook the entire city and some houses, already weakened by the constant artillery bombardment of the shambles of the Alcazar, were destroyed.

Immediately after the explosion, loyalist Storm Guards and militia men, with rifles and grenades, penetrated the ruins and engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with the desperate surviving insurgents.

It is estimated that over 100 were killed and wounded, including 40 loyalists, in the post-explosion fighting.

An electric fuse over 200 feet long set off the mines, as a climax to the night-long clamour of sirens and loud-speakers, by which civilians were urged to evacuate the vicinity of the fortress. The rebels urged the release of the women, children and aged.

Shortly before the explosion a correspondent visited and inspected the elaborately prepared mines, apparently directly below the cellars where the women and children were huddled.

The explosion shattered the west wall and a great cloud of dust and smoke gave the impression of an erupting volcano.—United Press.

Populace Watches

Madrid, Sept. 18.
The civilian population of Toledo, encamped in the bitter cold in a narrow alley and a half away from the scene of tragedy, watched the explosion which demolished the Alcazar and the insurgent garrison force with it.

The besieged rebels gallantly awaited their sure fate, making occasional desperate sallies in the hope of preventing the sappers from consummating their plot.

The blowing up of the Alcazar culminated one of the fiercest struggles of the civil war. From the point of view of the insurgents' morale, its fall is considered a worse blow than the surrender of Oviedo or Huesca. From the military point of view, its importance lies in the fact that Toledo dominates the best road to Madrid, and also to Alicante, Valencia and Balearic.

Whoever controls Toledo controls the main outlet to the sea—a vital factor in the defence of Madrid, most of whose food supplies come by this route.—Reuter.

100 Souls Safe

Madrid, Sept. 18.
An eye-witness of the blowing up of the Alcazar at Toledo declares the explosion was tremendous, throwing huge stones into the air and thus wrecking the roofs of many houses.

But 100 insurgents, including some women and children, who had taken refuge in a cellar, were unhurt.

The siege of 61 days had reduced the garrison to pitiable straits. There was one meal daily, consisting of a piece of horseflesh and a morsel of bread.

The interior of the fortress was a terrible spectacle, unburied and decomposed bodies everywhere, but the garrison, including cadets and the sons of noble houses, were undaunted throughout and kept touch with the world by wireless. They even organised a fête to celebrate an insurgent victory at Talavera and produced a typewritten "Siege Newspaper."—Reuter Special.

Alfonso Plans To Return To Own Country

Milan, Sept. 18.

Ex-King Alfonso of Spain, arriving here from Belgrade, Austria, indicated he was seriously considering a return to Spain in the event of a rebel victory.

It is noteworthy that he has purchased ten maps of motor roads in northern Spain.—United Press.

MALAGA MILITIA REVOLTS

REFUSES TO FIGHT INSURGENTS

H. M. VESSELS STANDING BY

Gibraltar, Sept. 18.

The Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the Mediterranean Fleet, which arrived here from Malaga yesterday intending to sail for Malta, departed at daybreak for Malaga, with the destroyer, H.M.S. Anthony. It is understood street fighting has broken out in the southern seaport, various rival political groups clashing, and that buildings have been set afire.

The destroyer, H.M.S. Worcester, is already at Malaga, whence it is reported that Senor Vega, the Civil Governor, has urgently appealed to the Madrid Government for immediate reinforcements, following the refusal of 600 of his militiamen to continue to fight against the insurgents.

Malaga Communists, in letters to Communist refugees in Gibraltar, declare they would rather smash the whole of Malaga than surrender and be shot by the insurgents for the execution of the naval officers whose blood is on their heads.—Reuter.

ARABS AGAIN ATTACK

MARTIAL LAW TO BE DELAYED STILL HOPE FOR PEACE

Jerusalem, Sept. 18.

The Jewish New Year was marked to-day with a recrudescence of Arab hostilities and an attack was made last night on nine Jewish centres. There were four separate onslaughts on an orange-growing colony, where Jewish watchmen, defending it, had exhausted their ammunition and were preparing for the inevitable when British police arrived.

Incendiaries destroyed a Jewish home near Samalia, the damage being estimated at £5,000.

The Iraq pipe line was again damaged near Aulieh.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

DELAYING ACTION

London, Sept. 18.
It is understood that a meeting of Ministers at No. 10 Downing Street this morning received reports from the High Commissioner in Palestine, General Sir Arthur Waugh, and the British Commander-in-Chief, General John Dill, with regard to the situation among the Arabs.

It is learned the Government intends to delay putting martial law into operation until it sees how the situation develops. It is hoped the influence of the moderate Arabs will have a steady effect, but there is no doubt that failing a very definite change in the position martial law will be proclaimed.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

FAREWELL TO GUARDS

London, Sept. 18.
The Duke of York, as Colonel of the Scots Guards, visited Aldershot to-day and made a farewell inspection of the Second Battalion, which leaves Aldershot for Palestine on Sunday.

In an address the Duke said "You are going to Palestine under more or less active service conditions. The situation there is very delicate and your duty will be to maintain law and order—a task that carries with it very heavy responsibilities, and calls for the utmost tact. As your Colonel, I expect you to be behaviour, bearing and appearance, both on and off parade, and particularly in your association with the civilian population, to uphold the good name of His Majesty's Foot Guards."—British Wireless.

HARVARD TERCENTENARY

London, Sept. 18.
In connection with the tercentenary celebrations at Harvard University, a service of commemoration of John Harvard, benefactor of the University, who was born in Southwark, London, in 1607, was held to-day in the Harvard Memorial Chapel of Southwark Cathedral and was attended by Aldermen and Councillors. The Mayor and Town Clerk are at Cambridge, Massachusetts, representing the Borough at the tercentenary celebrations.—British Wireless.

VICTORY—FOR A MOMENT

Cheering in the exuberance of victory, Spanish Government militia, on a captured ridge pushed northwards against General Mola's rebel army. A few days later they had been smashed by the insurgents as they drove on the seaports of the north. Their cheering did not stop the rush of Foreign Legion and Moorish bayonets.

CLOSING DOOR ON ETHIOPIA

LEAGUE DISOWNS FORMER MEMBER

PROTEST BY SPAIN

Geneva, Sept. 18.

The League of Nations Council to-day formally opened its ninety-third session. It is understood that the Credentials Committee will find that the Ethiopian Government does not fulfil the conditions laid down in the Covenant which entitle it to representation, and there is little doubt that the majority of the Assembly will endorse the recommendation, thus clearing the path for the readmission of Italy to the League.

Meanwhile, the Spanish delegate and Foreign Minister, Senor Delgado, has protested vigorously to M. Yves Delbos, the French Foreign Minister, regarding Portugal's alleged continued violations of her neutrality in the civil war.

M. Delbos agreed that the Portuguese attitude was inadmissible and intolerable.—Reuter.

BRITISH POLICIES

London, Sept. 18.
Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, to-day, handed a note to the representatives of other League Powers.

It will not be published, but it is understood to express the British desire for a general settlement. It makes no specific mention of Russia, but restates more concretely,

Scottish Star Reaches U.S. Golf Finals

J. McLean, the Scottish international golfer, achieved a brilliant performance yesterday in the United States open amateur golf championship, when in the semi-final round, he defeated George Voigt by 8 up and 7 to play.

McLean played wonderful golf in a game, and was six up at the 27th. He will meet Johnny Goodman in the final. Goodman had a close match with J. W. Fischer, whom he beat 2 and 1, after the players finished the morning round all square. Full report will be found on Page 12.

The British views as expounded in the communiqué of July 24.—Reuter.

WORKING FOR PEACE

Geneva, Sept. 18.
The Council of the League of Nations meets to-day with the hope of maintaining world peace, despite diplomatic storm and the ominous civil war in Spain.

However, no decisive action is anticipated either with respect to Italy's occupation of Ethiopia or Germany's remilitarisation of the Rhineland. It is expected that the session will attempt to provide a breathing spell to allow the League to recuperate from its unsuccessful efforts to settle the problems of Europe.

Italy is not represented to-day, but Baron Aloisi will lead the Italian delegation to the Assembly table on Monday after the Assembly refuses to send to the Ethiopian delegates.

It is believed a discussion of League reforms will be postponed.—United Press.

FLAMES SWEEP CHEUNG CHAU BUSINESS BLOCK

A disastrous fire broke out early this morning on Cheung Chau Island, causing the destruction of at least twenty houses, together with shops occupying the ground floors. Fortunately no lives were lost.

The outbreak appears to have originated in a piecegoods shop in Tai Sun Kai, the main street of the business quarter. Owing to the fact that the telephone cable connecting the island with the mainland was broken during the recent typhoon, communication by this means was impossible. Wireless, however, was used in notifying the Hongkong Police and Fire Brigade of the outbreak.

The total fire equipment, in charge of Inspector Gordon, was at first employed in putting out the flames, but later a fireboat arrived from Hongkong and commenced operations from alongside the ferry wharf. The new No. 1 police launch also went to the scene, rendering valuable assistance.

Despite every effort, a big batch of houses and shops was completely destroyed, by fire which broke out first in the morning, but continued to burn with great intensity throughout the day.

RESCUE SHIPS FIGHT GALE

Forty Already Feared Lost Off New Jersey

LIVES OF MANY OTHERS STILL ENDANGERED

Cape May, N.J., Sept. 18.

It is feared that 40 lives have been lost at sea already as an 80-mile-an-hour gale batters the New Jersey coast. Six are known to have drowned, 33 are missing and five were saved from the fishing boat, Long Island, which foundered off Cape May.

A dozen other vessels are in distress between the Virginia Capes and the New Jersey coast, including the Chesapeake, Elmirante, Hercules and the tanker Gulf Hawk. This last, with a crew of forty, is disabled five miles off Barnegat Lightship. The tanker Gulf Oil is standing by her but is unable to be of any assistance due to the mountainous seas.

The Coast Guard cutters Mohawk and Champlain are bucking the fierce gale in an effort to take succour to the floundering tanker's crew.

The steamer Ida Hay Atwater, with a crew of 26, has grounded in Delaware Bay, three miles south-east of Brandywine Lightship.

The barge Burke, five miles off Lewes, Delaware, has sent out distress signals.

At midnight meteorologists gave hope that the northern coast would escape the brunt of the storm, reporting the gale had veered slightly to the north-east. However, the threat to Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey courts remained.

City Hard Hit

Elizabeth City, North Carolina, is apparently the hardest hit of the storm area. Its three main streets are littered with wreckage. Many streets are inundated and all communications are cut off.

Other north Carolina communities escaped more lightly.

The lack of land casualties is attributed to the widespread early warnings against the approach of the storm.

Four March of Time photographers, who were missing at sea, are reported to have reached land safely.—United Press.

39 Missing

Cape May, Sept. 18.
Following the sinking of a fishing vessel at the entrance of Delaware Bay, 39 persons are missing in the hurricane which still whips the coast for miles.—Reuter.

45 Drown In Nile Mishap

LAUNCH COLLIDES WITH BARGE

Cairo, Sept. 18.

Latest reports of the disaster in which it was at first feared that 200 had drowned, indicate that 45 men, women and children have perished following the collision of a barge with a launch.

Three barges, carrying 200 railway workers and their families, were being towed by the launch on a river excursion when one of the barges collided with the launch. It sank immediately, sending several victims to their deaths.—Reuter.

BRONZE.. GOLD.. COPPER

New Metal Shades to Wear With Green

Models designed by Ronald Morret

RUMOURS of future fashion changes are numerous and contradictory, but I will give you to-day a few of the more outstanding trends which, in my opinion, will be popular in the autumn.

FIRST, green will be the first choice in colour. Natural garden greens for preference, which will be combined and contrasted with a whole range of metal colourings. Dark bronze brown, rich red copper, and the paler, more shadowy glint of old gold. They will be interwoven in tweeds and woolly fabrics. Knitted jumpers and blouses will express them, so will bright lines of piping on hats and trimmings.

MUCH prominence is being given to suits. There is the short jacket style with a fitted back, and a spring to the basque. Also the long three-quarter coat has appeared again. This also flares out below the waist, and will doubtless be a serious rival to the swaggar shape which has had quite a long run already.

COLLARS of coats will be neat and tailored-looking, with wide pointed revers frequently carried out in flat fur, like broadtail and other members of the lamb fur family.

BLACK and blue have been given the go-by for a time. Brown seems a far better background and companion colour to the new green, wine, yellow and metal shades which predominate.

EVENING gowns are cut off the shoulder, early Victorian style. Some are full skirted and picturesque, others so skin-tight that they look almost sculptured. Velvet, cloque and lace are the chosen materials.

SKIRTS in every case are shorter and inclined to bell out at the hem rather than remain straight and tube-like. Except, of course, when a long, full tulle is worn: then a tight underskirt is imperative. Hats are high, with plant pot or pointed crowns. They are trimmed with buckles, heavy-pointing quills and stiff loops of ribbons. There are less flowers.

Metal shades allied with green and beige for the striped tuxedo suit. The flared coat has striking beige and brown checks, and is worn with a broken skirt.

FASHION FLASH from Paris

METAL and jewelled belts appear on fur wraps shown in Paris dress collections.

A black suede belt, diamante studded, is worn with a Persian lamb coat. Another coat, of brown shaved lamb, has a brown belt with brass bosses all over it.

Brightly-coloured gloves are worn with both day and evening dresses. Long lilac-coloured suede gloves go with a black evening dress, short wrist-length gloves with sleeveless evening gowns, pink gloves with a powder blue velvet evening dress. Pink gloves again are seen with a ruby red velvet evening gown.

Green leather gloves match a green tweed dress. Olive yellow ones accompany a black suit matching a suede belt.

POEM

A thing of beauty is a joy forever:

Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness; but still will keep

A bower quiet for us and a sleep
Full of sweet dreams, and health, and quiet breathing.

Therefore, on every morrow are we wreathing

A flowery band to bind us to the earth,
Spite of despondence, of the inhuman dearth

Of noble natures, of the gloomy days,
Of all the unhealthful and o'er-darkened ways

Made for our searching; yes, in spite of all,

Some shape of beauty moves away the pall

From our dark spirits. Such, the sun,
the moon,

Trees old and young, sprouting a shady boon

For simple sheep; and such are daffodils,

With the green world they live in; and clear rills

That for themselves a cooling covert make

'Gainst the hot season.

If He Doesn't
Like Greenstuff—

GIVE HIM BEANS

SOME time ago I wrote in these pages a note on the best way to cook beans, French or Runners; how it is far better to cook French beans whole, unless they are large ones, when they may be cut simply in two lengthwise; and how it is also better to cut Runner Beans into largish pieces instead of shredding them up, as some do, and so lose most of their flavour in the water they have boiled in.

I recommended, too, that after the beans have been cooked and well drained, they should be dried again in the pan on the fire, and at the last minute tossed in a little fresh butter before service, with the addition of a touch more salt and a sprinkling of pepper.

And now, as a friend of mine whose business it is to know these things tells me that there will be large supplies of beans in the market for the next few weeks, it may be useful to note a few of the many ways of serving them.

WITH ONIONS.—Everyone knows what Lyonnaise Potatoes are. Well, beans can be served in the same way; that is, they are first cooked and then well drained and dried, and mixed in a frying pan with some thinly sliced onions which have previously just been browned in a little butter. Serve them very hot.

Some people like to add a drop of vinegar to the pan just when they are turned out into the dish.

WITH CHEESE.—Do exactly the same, but instead of onions add some grated cheese, and cook it with the beans for a minute or two before serving.

WITH SAUCE.—Make a white sauce with some flour, butter, white stock and the water the beans have cooked in (or even that water alone); thicken it with a yolk of egg beaten up in a drop of cream of the milk and, of course, salt and pepper and if you like a touch of grated nutmeg.

Just before you mix the beans with this sauce to serve them, squeeze into the sauce and mix in well a few drops of lemon juice.

WITH SOUR CREAM.—Bind the cooked beans, in a way they have, I believe in Russia, with some sour cream flavoured with a touch of lemon juice.

WITH BROWN BUTTER.—Cook the beans and drain them well, keeping them hot. Put some butter in a frying pan and let it get gradually brown. When it is a light brown colour and smells of nuts (that is, when the French call it Beurre Noisette) stir in quickly a small spoonful of vinegar and pour it over the beans.

IN A PUREE.—Old beans will often make a good puree when they are a bit too ancient to eat whole or sliced. Cook them as before and when they are done pass them through a sieve. Moisten if necessary with a little of the water in which they were cooked and finished by the addition of a little pepper and a few pieces of butter.

Cream can be added, too, if liked.

WITH A WHITE SAUCE.—In Touraine they cook beans in this way. Half cook them in boiling water, then drain them well and finish cooking them in a rather thin white (Bechamel) sauce. When they are done sprinkle with chopped parsley.

WITH BACON OR SALT PORK.—In America they sometimes have the habit of adding a piece of bacon or pickled pork, or even a bacon bone, to the water in which the beans are cooked.

FRENCH BEAN SOUP.—Chop up an onion and brown it with a teaspoonful of chopped garlic, if you like it, and a couple of tablespoonfuls of flour in an ounce of butter. String and slice a pound and a half of French beans, add them to the mixture and toss all together for a minute or two.

Now moisten with a quart of vegetable stock or water and season with salt, pepper and a little nutmeg. Bring to the boil and simmer for an hour. Then pass through a sieve, reheat and serve with fried croutons of bread.

New Divine Revelation May Come Through Telepathy ENGLISH CLERIC'S VIEW

SAVING OF LIFE BY PRAYER

"I suggest that if a new revelation of God ever comes to this planet, it will be through some heightening of the telepathic thought," said the Rev. T. F. Royds, rector of Houghton, Staffordshire, in an address to the Modern Churchmen's Conference at Oxford.

"Some day a Heavenly vision may be seen more often," said Mr. Royds. "Our physical evolution has been complete for many thousands of years, but our spiritual evolution is much slower."

"Telepathy is already a well-established fact. In America nearly a hundred thousand experiments have been made over a period of three years, and it has been proved beyond all reasonable doubt that some people, perhaps only a small minority, have the power to transmit their thoughts to others at any distance, like broadcast speech."

Referring to prayers for the fine weather, Mr. Royds said that God answered prayer, but not all kinds of prayer.

"Prayers for reasonable weather can change nothing but the minds of those who hear them. The spirit of God can heal and strengthen not only the spirit of man but also through it his body. I believe that I, for one, know what it means to be instrumental in saving life through prayer. I do not care to give details, except to those who have been through something of the same kind, because such an experience is incommunicable, and I have no scientific evidence to offer."

STORY OF ELISHA

"I will only say that two years ago I understood, for the first time, the story of Elisha at Dothan, and how the young man saw the mountain full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha. I do not mean that I actually saw anything, but I knew it was there as surely as I know I am in this room."

"There are several kinds of psychotherapy, for example Christian Science, Couéism, auto-suggestion, and the miracles of Lourdes, and they all deliver the goods to some extent or they would not survive long."

"The same are sure that God has spoken to them, but so are the insane. How can we tell when God really has spoken? Surely by telling the difference between the sane and the insane."

Mr. Royds, speaking to a reporter later about his reference to prayer being instrumental in saving life, said that it was a very personal matter, which he did not wish to discuss in public, beyond saying that it was a case of seemingly incurable illness which was cured by faith-healing.

FAITH AND FACT

The need for a religion which reconciles faith with fact was emphasised by the Rev. G. L. H. Harvey, rector and rural dean of Sutton Coldfield. He said that no kind of religious faith which involved a flight from fact was tolerable to those who are children of the age of science.

"At the same time," he went on, "I hasten to acknowledge with heavy heart, that this is an age that even now may be passing away, doomed to be submerged under an uprush of irrationalism. There exists to-day a widespread sense of incongruity between the world of religious faith and the world of facts."

"A headmistress of a well-known public school told me that she found it simply useless to tell her girls that a thing is wrong. They want to know why it is wrong."

There was a tendency nowadays for the religious to avoid the difficulties which had troubled his father by disregarding the factual world. Claiming an autonomy for the world of faith, he withdrew himself within his own domain. The great theologians who coined these phrases dwelt in a world in which the framework of thought was different from that of to-day. In that distant world our academic theologians had naturalised themselves. It was only so that they could preserve the treasures of old time.

But when they approached the children of the twentieth century talking the language of the fifth century they were it was to be feared, wasting their breath.

EXPLOITING PERSONALITY

All this might make the world of the pious clergy more interesting; it certainly made it no easier. Many sought a way of escape. Some happened to be attractive, and they had the gift of getting it across from the pulpit to the congregation. They made no great claims on the intelligence of their people, and it would be futile for the more intelligent of their people to make any great claim on theirs.

They were generous of emotion, and were rather addicted to accusing the more thoughtful of their fellow-clergy of an intellectualism which they were pleaded to stigmatise as dry. It might be objected that they were unduly jealous for the assumed interests of the intellectually weaker members of the flock, and were apt to forget that God had endowed them with minds as well as with wills and emotions. They were often lovable men, and no one would grudge them their measure of success within their own sphere.

MYSTICISM, WATER, AND SENTIMENT

Others, though in private they might show themselves to be theologians of a drastically critical type, in public ministrations also appealed to the emotions, though in a different and less personal way. They had a flair for what was beautiful, dignified, and awe-inspiring in ritual and ceremony. They were adepts in the technique of mass-psychology. They put liturgy first and theology second. These, again, did not fail to find ample material responsive to their art.

Others indulged in a 'pseudo-mysticism which waited the worshipper into a realm where the doors were bolted against the intrusion of the hard facts and clamant problems of everyday life.

What they offered, however, was in truth only mysticism and water heavily sugared with sentimentality. It found musical expression in the worst of the more popular mid-Victorian tunes of "Hymns, Ancient and Modern." The genuine mystic would give it very short shrift.

HERD MENTALITY

Psychologists were criticised by the Rev. J. C. Ingham, who said: "As we look round on the contemporary scene we can observe every device of psychology and science being employed in the technique and propaganda to submerge the modest amount of rationality possessed by average humans. Psychology is being used at present to dehumanise us. The herd mentality is being deliberately fostered and exploited."

"Psychologists are betraying the whole conception of the personality and the sacredness of the individual. It is not beside the mark to note how the new psychological doctrines are being accompanied by new political and economic social ideals, which reduce the individual to the status of a unit. To-day the ordinary citizen is a cog in the industrial machine, a cannon fodder for the military machine, and a rubber stamp for the political machine."

"We have risen above the beasts, but we are better than they? That we are, more cruel, more greedy, more lustful, can hardly be denied. We are, indeed, more cunning, but is cunning a moral quality?"

CINEMA

"San Francisco," showing to-day at the King's and Alhambra Theatres, promises to become one of the most talked-about pictures in many, many months. First, it tells three of the most popular screen stars for the first time—Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy. It is a picture brimming with romance, love, comedy, beauty, music and excitement. The picture takes us into the seething, mad excitement of the Barbary Coast when it was a byword around the world. It takes us into aristocratic Nob Hill, into the old Tirolli opera house, the historic Palace Hotel and other landmarks of the old San Francisco, when an earthquake that levelled a beautiful city to the ground thirty years ago, in a series of the most realistic disaster scenes ever filmed. Clark Gable offers one of his greatest characterizations as Blackie Norton, owner of the picture palace on the Coast. Jeanette MacDonald is superb as the country girl who starts her singing career on the Barbary Coast and rises to great operatic heights, only to return to the Coast because of the man she loves. Spencer Tracy scores in an unusual role as a kind of evangelist who wanders the wicked street for his evangelistic work. In the excellent supporting cast are Jack Holt, Jessie Ralph, Ted Healy, Shirley Ross, Margaret Irving, Harold Huber and Al Sheen. The direction by W. S. Van Dyke and production by Bernard McConville and John Emerson is outstanding. "San Francisco" is a picture that must be seen.

"Road Gang"

"Road Gang," the first National production which opened at the Majestic Theatre yesterday, is a picture that will linger long in the memory of every one who sees it. This is a story of deliberate inhumanity practised by crooked politicians and callous guards upon helpless prisoners, and if the film depicts actual conditions, as it is supposed to do, it proves that the day of the whipping post, the torture chamber and other almost unbelievable punishments, is still with us. Donald Woods has the leading role, that of a newspaper correspondent sent to prison on a trumped-up charge because he threatened to expose the crooked political boss of the state. Roy Linnaker is not only beautiful, but gives a splendid performance in the leading feminine part as the sweetheart of Woods, who eventually wins him his freedom. Others in the cast who do excellent work include Joseph King as the crooked political boss; Henry O'Neill as one of his henchmen and the step-father of the girl; Addison Richards as the prison farm warden; Charles Middleton the mine superintendent, and Joseph Crehan as a newspaper editor who eventually uncovers the graft and exposes the terrible conditions of the two penal institutions.

"Preview Murder Mystery"

"The Preview Murder Mystery" latest contribution to the school of "thriller" films, will be the next attraction at the Oriental Theatre tomorrow, Monday, and Tuesday, with a range east of favourites headed by Reginald Denham, Frances Drake, Gail Patrick, Rod LaRocque, George Barbier, Ian Keith, Conway Tearle and Jack Mulhall. All the action of "The Preview Murder Mystery" is set in a motion picture studio, and audiences are actually taken behind the scenes and shown the making of a motion picture from start to finish. Against this background is enacted an exciting, though chilling, mystery

CANTON-HANKOW

TROOP TRAIN IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Canton, Sept. 18. The 21st. southbound Hankow-Canton Express, which was scheduled to arrive here last evening did not turn up to late last night.

Much anxiety was caused among those waiting at the Wongsha Station for friends expected by the train. The local Railway Station communicated with the Station at Ping-shieh last night as to the cause of the delay, but failed to obtain a satisfactory reply. Nothing was known until this morning when a telegram was received from Ping-shieh stating that the southbound express which left Hankow for Canton on the evening of the 15th, inst. was held up at Chuenhsien, in southern Hunan, because of the collapse of an embankment near there following heavy rain. The telegram further stated that repairs had been carried out by workers from a nearby station, but owing to the extent of the damages the rails could not be cleared at once. It would have to wait at Chuenhsien.

Latest information received to-day indicates that the express is expected to arrive here to-morrow.

The Canton-Hankow express scheduled to leave to-night had to cancel its departure owing to the breakdown at Chuenhsien. This will be the first interruption of the service since its inauguration. Reports from other sources state that the delay is due to a derailment at Liang Tien Station, in southern Hunan yesterday morning.

The report further declares that the train involved was a military transport train carrying a large number of troops of the 6th. Nanking Division. Several coaches were derailed and a number of casualties resulted. The number of the accident are not known, but it is understood that the collapse of a certain part of the embankment was the cause.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

story, beginning at the preview of a new picture, when the star is found murdered. A short time later a studio policeman is found knifed to death. Authorities, convinced that the find is on the "hot," padlock the entire establishment and begin fine-combing it from end to end. What ensues as the investigation narrows down brings the story to a breathless climax, guaranteed to raise gooseflesh on the most hardened of mystery addicts.

"Klondike Annie"

Paramount's gift to humanity, blonde Mae West, moves into the Star Theatre on Sunday in her new contribution to the reconstruction of the glamorous '90's—"Klondike Annie." Like "She Done Him Wrong" and "Belles of the Nineties," the new West film is a gay and gaudy tale of hale and lusty days. It opens on the Barbary Coast in San Francisco, where Mae is held prisoner in a gambling house. It takes to the high seas after Mae makes her escape, and ends where a man is killed. It winds up in Alaska, during the Gold Rush, where Mae, to escape detention for the San Francisco affair, disguises herself as a girl missionary, and escapes through a series of exciting and amusing complications. Victor McLaglen, the husky star of "The Informer" and "Professional Soldier," is Mae West's leading man in "Klondike Annie." He plays the role of the ship captain. He's not the only gentleman on the scene, however—there's Phillip Reed, who is the Federal operative stalking Miss West; and Conway Tearle, who aids her escape in San Francisco; to mention only a few. The production was written by Miss West and directed by Raoul Walsh.

"Wife Versus Secretary"

Jean Harlow became Clark Gable's secretary, and Myrna Loy, his wife, as camera started turning on Hunt Stromberg's production of "Wife Versus Secretary" at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which opens Sunday at the Majestic Theatre. The picture tells the story of the famous first time. The union of the famous first time brings to the screen Faith Baldwin's best-selling novel of the same title, which appeared serially in a national magazine. It tells the story of the divorcing line separating a man's office from his home, with problem of choosing between the love of his wife, Myrna Loy, and his secretary, Jean Harlow.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
YESTERDAY

New York, Sept. 18. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market.—The market to-day advanced sharply, led by automobiles, steels and rails. There is nothing in the general news to account for this rise and brokers are still cautious, many regarding the move as purely technical, although some revised their opinions as the scope of the advance increased. Coppers, chemicals, liquors, amusements and railroad equipments were all strong, and the volume of business in all stocks increased on the rise. The Bond Market was higher, while stocks on the Curb Exchange were also higher.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment—"Lucky Strike" and "Camel" cigarettes show substantially increased sales for this year compared with last year. The Street is bullish on building supply companies' stocks. American Smelting would probably be considerably higher, except for labour difficulties in connection with its Mexican properties. Some brokers are of the opinion that utilities have been over-sold.

S. C. & F. New York office cable: Stocks: The market to-day was impressively firm on better sentiment and on continued good trade news. Bank clearings were up by 10 1/2% from last week's figures.

Cotton: No damage has been reported as a result of the Carolina hurricane and there has also been but little damage due to the rains in the West. Except to grades which had already had little possibility of improvement. The absorption of hedges was better than had been expected. Forwardings to mills for the week amounted to 201,000 bales.

Wheat: Beneficial rains over a large producing area in the Argentine and in our own South-West have caused a fair amount of selling. There is a reported Italian shortage of 60,000,000 bushels and Italy is a heavy buyer of Canadian wheat. Canada being at present the main important source of supply.

Corn: The tight September position still remains the chief factor. Rubber: A substantial decrease in English stocks is expected. It is estimated that Malaysian shipments for September amounted to 32,000 tons.

MR. ALLAN KEITH

Many in Hongkong, especially among older residents, will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Allan Keith, who up to the beginning of last year was Secretary of the Green Island Cement Company. Mr. Keith passed away at home on Wednesday last, September 18, and news of his death was received in the Colony yesterday. The flag at the Hongkong Club was at half-mast immediately the sad tidings were received.

The late Mr. Keith came from London, and arrived in Hongkong in 1909 to join Shawton, Tomes and Company. He worked in the department which had charge of the Green Island Cement Company's interests, and on behalf of the concern was sent to Singapore, during the period of the War, for a while. On his return to the Colony he continued to have charge of the Cement Company's affairs here, and latterly had been Secretary of the firm on its ceasing to be managed by Shawton, Tomes. He retired at the beginning of last year owing to ill-health, sailing for home in Febru-

PRAISE INDEED.

The problem of exterminating cockroaches in an efficient and easy manner is one which for long has perplexed and annoyed householders. Sometime ago, the "Gator" Roach Hives were introduced to South China, and experience has proved that when placed where these pests are prevalent, in the cupboard, bookcase, behind pictures, in the writing desk—and a dozen and one other places—cockroaches do disappear. An interesting letter has recently been received in Hongkong from New York, the following being an extract. "I thought it might interest you to know that we recently received an order from Mr. James M. Henry, Provost, Trustees Lingnam University, for Gator Roach Hives. Mr. Henry said in his letter that a friend connected with the University of Hongkong had written him about Gator Roach Hives praising them highly."

Try a package of these simple and safe hives when next ordering your household supplies. They are sold in packages of three and are procurable at all chemists and leading stores.—Advt.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hongkong

SUNDAY'S SERVICE

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches tomorrow, September 20, will be "Matter."

The Golden Text will be "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

Amongst others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little. And seeing the multitude, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the Kingdom of heaven. Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." (Isaiah 28, 9, 10, Matthew 5, 1-3, 6, 20, 48.)

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Emerge gently from matter into Spirit. Think not to thwart the spiritual ultimate of all things, but come naturally into Spirit through the moral error which is the result of spiritual growth. Not death, but the understanding of Life, makes man immortal. The belief that life can be in matter or soul in body, and that man springs from dust or from an egg, is the result of the mortal error which is the result of spiritual growth. Truth, destroys by fulfilling the spiritual law of being, in which man is perfect, even as 'Father which is in heaven is perfect.' When we fully understand our relation to the Divine, we can have no other mind but His—no other Love, wisdom, or Truth, no other sense of Life, and no consciousness of the existence of matter or error. That matter is substantial or real life and sensation, is one of the false beliefs of mortal mind, and exists only in a suppositious mortal consciousness. Hence, as we approach Spirit and Truth, we lose the consciousness of matter. The verity of Mind shows conclusively how it is that matter seems to be, and is not. Divine Science, raising above physical theories, excludes matter, resolves things into thoughts, and replaces the objects of material sense with spiritual ideas." (Pages 485, 205, 276, 122.)

POKFULUM DEATH
SUBPOENA REFUSED FOR WITNESS

The Coroner's inquiry into the death of Mr. T. B. Oel, a director of the China and South Sea Bank, who was killed by a fall over an embankment at Pokfulum Road on July 7, was resumed before Mr. W. Schofield, but a jury comprising Messrs. Wall, Mohr, Michel (foreman), Walter Muehlshagen and J. H. Maycock, at the Central Magistrate's court yesterday.

Inspector M. Hourihan informed the Coroner that Mr. Stanley Chan, one of the chief witnesses, had left the Colony for Swatow, although he had been warned that he was required as a witness, and it was possible he would return.

Mr. P. H. Sin, for deceased's parents, applied for a subpoena against Mr. Chan, but Mr. Schofield declined, although he said that Chan's people could be asked to write to him.

Tan Hong-ii, one of the members of the party at a restaurant in Aberdeen on July 7, said that before they started out to Aberdeen that evening Oel was in a normal condition and not drunk. At the dinner at the restaurant in Aberdeen they had brandy and beer. Messrs. Chan, Robinson and deceased drank about three or four bottles of brandy while Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, Mr. T. Oel and himself drank beer. Deceased drank quite a lot of brandy. Some of the party were singing, and it was a jolly party.

Heard Commotion

About 9.30 p.m., Mr. T. B. Oel suddenly rose and walked to the stairs. While passing Chan, he pulled his braces, and Chan followed him. Witness said he did not see what happened below, as he was having his dinner, but a few minutes later he heard a commotion and sounds of people running about. He looked out and saw deceased running about the street in the rain, chasing a crowd of people. T. T. Oel and Robinson then went downstairs, but witness did not see what happened. Later he was told that deceased had been taken home in a car. A police officer then came in and asked them what they were doing breaking the place up, and Chan told the officer that one of their friends had done it, but he would pay for it. Chan then went to the police station and paid for the damage. Later T. T. Oel, who had gone with his brother in the car, returned and told them that deceased had fallen and asked Chan to telephone for an ambulance. This was done and the party went to the scene of the accident.

Inspector M. Hourihan said that when he went to the scene of the accident, he saw Robinson, who told him that Oel had shouted to the driver to stop, then got out of the car, ran forward and tried to stop a taxi. Robinson added that he and

RECITALS
FIRST TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY

The first of the three sonata recitals to be held at the Helena May Hall takes place on Friday night next. Booking is particularly brisk, and those wishing to avoid last-minute disappointment are advised to ring the Helena May office, where the box plan is, or to call without delay.

To many music-lovers the appeal of the Great Masters of the past is irresistible, so that the first programme is bound to be universally popular. It is based on the Handel Sonata in D major, and the Beethoven Sonata (No. 1) in A major, for violin and piano, played by Prue Lewis and Maurice Barton; and an unusual feature, the Bach unaccompanied Sonata, No. 6, played by Prue Lewis. Edgar Warner will sing songs by Handel and Bach accompanied by Lindsay A. Lafford. Details will be found in our advertisement columns.

T. T. Oel persuaded deceased to let the taxi pass, and after that they lost sight of him when he again ran away. They went to the spot, and on looking over the embankment saw what appeared to be his body below.

Inspector's Theory

Inspector Hourihan stated that he went down to where the body lay, and found a small stone scattered around. The bank also showed marks as if some one had slid down it. In his opinion Oel had slipped and rolled down the bank. Robinson was sober when he saw him, but very agitated.

Detective-Sergeant J. S. Riddell said that the spot from where Oel had left the car to where he had disappeared was 324 feet, and from the compound where the body was found to the top of the embankment, 52 feet. The breadth of the kerb from the roadway to the face of the embankment was 6½ feet.

In reply to Mr. Sin, witness said he had interviewed Chan, who showed no reluctance in answering his questions.

Mr. Sin then made his application for a subpoena against Chan, and was asked by the Coroner what importance was attached to Chan's appearance.

Mr. Sin replied that he was sure Chan was not present when the accident took place, but it was alleged that he had had a fight with Oel before Oel's death in Aberdeen that evening.

Mr. Schofield said the only thing to be done was to wait until Chan returned, and if he did not, his statement could be read out, but he did not see his way clear to grant a subpoena. Chan's family, however, could be asked to write to him. The hearing was adjourned until 2.30 p.m. on September 25.

WIDOW'S STRUGGLE WITH STAIRS*Had to Pull Herself Up and Slide Down

This woman—a widow—has a message of hope for every sufferer from rheumatism.

She writes: "I am a widow, aged 55, and for seven years have suffered terribly with muscular rheumatism and rheumatic gout. Two years ago I could not bend my knees to walk downstairs. I had to slide down and then pull myself up again by the rail. I had to have a stick to help me along. Then early in April last year I was advised to try Kruschen Salts. I got one bottle, and by the time that was gone, I began to feel brighter and better. I have gone on ever since, and am now able to walk with comfort."—(Mrs.) F. M. T.

Do you realise what causes rheumatism? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system. The numerous mineral salts in Kruschen dissolve away all traces of uric acid, and speedily bring relief from rheumatic agony.

Brushing with ordinary dentifrices can never give you the gleaming white teeth you envy. Only brushing with an effective film-removing dentifrice can do that. For film is the sticky, gummy coating that forms on teeth, obscures their natural beauty. Even worse, it glues to teeth the germs and acids associated with tooth decay. You must remove that film.

That's why we urge you to use Pepsodent, the special film-removing tooth paste. For Pepsodent contains a cleansing and polishing substance that is unexcelled in removing film from

Mary Astor Case

WARRANT FOR ARREST OF KAUFMAN

LOS ANGELES, AUG. 25.

A WARRANT for the arrest of Mr. George S. Kaufman, the Broadway playwright, was issued to-day when he failed to appear at the resumption of the sensational Mary Astor case before the Los Angeles Courts.

Mr. Kaufman, who was built up in the Astor diary as a "great lover," was earlier reported to be planning to leave California by plane to seek the comparative seclusion of New York.

After Miss Astor had admitted under cross-examination that she had had an affair with the playwright before she was divorced last year, a subpoena was served upon Mr. Kaufman.

Despite this, he failed to attend the Court to-day.

MARY UNDER FIRE

While sheriffs armed with the warrant went in search of Mr. Kaufman, Miss Astor went to the witness stand again to face cross-examination by counsel of her ex-husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe.

When she admitted her affair with Mr. Kaufman she alleged that Dr. Thorpe condoned it and that she had pointed this out to him before he entered suit for divorce last year.

But the first question fired at her by Dr. Thorpe's counsel to-day was: "What part of the affair with Mr. Kaufman did your husband condone?"

Before a court packed with Holly-wood celebrities Miss Astor was then questioned regarding her acquaint-ance with Mr. Bennett Cerf, a New York publisher, who was formerly the husband of Miss Sylvia Sydney, the film star.

JOHN BARRYMORE

Counsel also questioned Miss Astor about meetings with Mr. Kaufman in New York, and a visit paid to her by Mr. John Barrymore after his trans-continental "flight" from Miss Elaine Barrie, his protegee.

Miss Astor admitted that she had dined and danced with Mr. Cerf, and also that an extract from her diary revealed that she had driven in the park with Kaufman, "who said he'd like to kiss me, but didn't."

When counsel suggested that Mr. John Barrymore was intoxicated when he visited her, Miss Astor be-came most indignant. She admitted that drinks were served during the visit, which lasted an hour. Mr. Barrymore was not alone when he visited her, she said. She admitted that Mr. Barrymore "had poured out his troubles to her."

HAVANA HOLIDAY

Asked whether, when she returned from New York, she had told Dr. Thorpe that she had had an affair with Mr. Kaufman, Miss Astor said: "I do not recall such."

She admitted that she and her guests drank liquor occasionally in front of Marilyn (the child whose custody is in dispute). Referring to her holiday in Havana, she admitted that Mr. "Dunny" Silberberg and others had accom-panied her.

"I did not stay with anybody in Havana," she said. "We were to-gether as a party." She denied that she had shared a room with any man, either in New York or Havana hotels.

NEW PEACE MOVE

Meanwhile, the film colony trembles at reports that other leading actors and motion picture executives, two playwrights and one public official are among the 18 named by Miss Astor in her diary.

The week-end struggles of suddenly virtuous cinema magnates and alarmed "screen lovers" to settle the case out of court—because of their fear that further revelations would ruin certain reputations and result in financial loss to the film industry—seemed fruitless to-day.

Mr. Irving Thalberg, the husband of Norma Shearer, is sponsor of a new "peace move" at the request of the magnates.

Both Miss Astor and Dr. Thorpe insist on battling to complete victory, regardless of what scandal the testi-mony might bring.

The case results from Miss Astor's attempt to regain the custody of Dr. Thorpe when he and the film star were divorced a year ago.

Wanting, Says
St. Paul's Dean

Said the Dean of St. Paul's, Dr. W. R. Matthews, in his presidential address to the Modern Churchmen's Conference at Oxford, in a plea for a new reformation:—
"The influence of Christianity in the world steadily wanes. We must admit, if we have the courage to face the truth, that, while the Rationalists have nothing to offer, what the Churches offer becomes less and less acceptable to the masses of Western civilisation."

FREAK 'PLANE

Famous U. S. Flier To Attempt Atlantic Flight

An aeroplane without any fuselage, with all the accommodation for pilot and baggage contained in one huge wing, will be used by the veteran flier, Mr. Clyde Pangborn, when he attempts to fly from New York to Paris and back to the United States, says Reuter from New York.

Mr. Pangborn intends to make his venture about the middle of August. The machine, which was designed by the late Mr. Claire Vance, of Oakland, California, consists of a wing only, in which are found pilot's quarters, fuel supply, and compart-ments for baggage all joined to the tail surfaces by slender metal booms. The petrol capacity is 1,150 gallons, and the machine has only one engine with an estimated flying range of 6,000 miles non-stop. There is space aboard for 1,000 lbs of mail or goods.

Mr. Pangborn's chief purpose is to make the first "pay load" aeroplane flight across the Atlantic. To this end he has fixed rates for mail and parcel post at 1.14 dollars per half ounce (about 48 gds) for the outward trip, 1.65 dollars for the return trip (about 68 gds), and 2.65 dollars (about 108 gds) for the round trip for each half ounce carried.

On the return trip he hopes to fly non-stop either to California or to Dallas, Texas, where the Texas Centennial Exposition is being held.

Mr. Pangborn will take off from Floyd Bennett Airport on Long Island, and will head direct for Paris. On the return flight he will attempt to establish a non-stop distance record for a point-to-point flight. He will be accompanied by Mr. Marion Grovenberg, a friend and flying companion since Mr. Pangborn's World War flying days.

NEW ASYLUM NEEDED

Apart from the erection of a new Central Market, necessitated by the partial collapse of the building, no new major work is to be undertaken in the Colony during the coming year. It is much to be regretted that by reason of financial stringency it has not been found possible to make a start on the much-needed Mental Hospital. In 1932, the building of a new asylum was mentioned as one of several urgently necessary projects, but it has had to be postponed year after year because funds have not been available. But very many years before 1932 was the need realised; in fact, as far back as 1924 the present building was described as a disgrace to the Colony. The description applies with even greater force to-day. Actually, the Mental Hospital is no better than a prison. Its inmates are herded together behind iron bars under conditions which must greatly mitigate against their recovery. The facilities for out-of-door exercise or recreation are limited to a forbidding-looking compound, which is so small that when the women inmates make use of it, the men have to be kept indoors, and vice versa. Criminal lunatics, although segregated, are often in sight of other inmates, and at times Europeans, male and female, are accommodated in the same wards as Asiatics. The whole atmosphere is depressing in the extreme, the general conditions being such as to throw unreasonable heavy burdens on the staff. In the modern sense of the term, the institution cannot be regarded as an asylum; so far from contributing to the recovery of the inmates, we can imagine few places more likely to conduce to even greater insanity. From time to time, there have been various tentative plans for the erection of a new building, at least two sites for which have been earmarked in Kowloon. The last of these was the area originally set aside for the new Central British School, near the Kowloon Hospital. It is, however, uncertain whether this will be the final choice, as the suggestion has been made that it would be better to locate the asylum in the New Territories, where there would be ample space for gardening, etc. But wherever the institution is placed, there can be no question of its urgent necessity. It seems also clear that provision will have to be made for a specialised staff, including at least one alienist skilled in the treatment of the various types of insanity. Should the financial position of the Colony improve during the coming year, it is to be hoped that provision will be made, by way of supplementary vote if necessary, for a start on this essential public service.

Make Your Homes Gas-proof

By JOHN G. P. HUNT.

THE Home Office has asked for £887,000 as a supplementary estimate to provide the British public with "perfect" respirators. These are to be distributed, not to members of the public, but to certain headquarters and centres from which they can be obtained in the event of emergency.

For a population of 40,000,000 (and that of the British Isles is slightly more) the sum demanded will allow for respirators at, roughly, sixpence apiece. How the "perfect" respirator can be produced for this price is a matter of speculation.

Recently I purchased a general service respirator for experimental purposes. The model was practically identical to that issued to the troops to-day. If anything it may have been slightly better, as the container was larger and would remain effective longer. The price was over £3, and it is fair to assume that the manufacturing cost must have been in the neighbourhood of at least £1 10s.

On this basis the present supplementary estimate would provide for roughly 600,000 general service respirators. Perhaps the money is required to equip factories to make box respirators. But the equipment of a factory does not provide the immediate protection which may be necessary.

The authorities must not only provide adults with a respirator; what is even more essential is to instruct them thoroughly in making their houses (or portions of their houses) gas-proof. It is impossible to keep a young child in a respirator for any length of time without its fidgeting and trying to Preferably a room with a north-east aspect, in a basement should be selected. In a two-storied house it can be on the ground floor, in a three-storied house on the first floor.

Certain gases have power of impregnating bricks and mortar. Although all windows may be closed and gas-tight on the south-west side of the house, such gases as mustard gas might seep through the brickwork. In the northeast (or north of east) corner the inner wall will give additional protection.

It is some consolation to know that when the wind blows from the north-east or north the possibility of a gas-air raid is unlikely. These winds, being generally gusty, will quickly distribute the concentration into the air and render it innocuous through dilution.

The room being chosen, the preliminary precautions need not prevent its being used for its everyday purposes.

There are two stages in the construction of a gas-proof room. First, the manufacture of certain home-made fixtures, and the insertion of screws into the wall with wall-plugs. Frames, the matter of a few hours' work by a handy man about the house should also be made. These will last indefinitely, and have only to be assembled in the event of a sudden emergency. It should take less tear the mask from its face.

Therefore the real domestic solution of the gas-air raid problem is to set aside a room for this particular occasion.

NOTES OF THE DAY

PHRASEOLOGY

Despite a lengthy discussion at last Wednesday's meeting of the Legislative Council on the question of liability of shipowners for damage caused to shore works by vessels during bad weather, no member was able to suggest a satisfactory alternative for the rather cumbersome phraseology of the proviso contained in the Ordinance. This proviso is to the effect that owners shall not be liable, in the absence of negligence by themselves or their employees, "if the damage was occasioned through stress of weather conditions at a time when day or night signals No. 9 (gale expected to increase) or No. 10 (wind of typhoon force expected) are displayed by the Royal Observatory." It is quite, however, conceivable that wind of typhoon force might occur when neither of these signals is hoisted. Yet, by reason of the language used in the Ordinance, shipowners would still be liable for damage caused under such conditions. A far simpler and more effective form of words, we suggest, would be:—"If the damage was occasioned through stress of weather caused by wind of typhoon force."

various floor boards and the shirrings should be filled in with putty or paste and then varnished. In addition, a certain amount of putty, plasticine, or similar material should be kept available to close up cracks when the windows are shut.

Adhesive tape, as is used for joining electric wiring, is also helpful. If nothing else is ready, paper pulped in water would suffice, but only temporarily since it will dry with the heat of the room and tend to fall away.

The doors should be protected by anti-gas union cloth, like oilskin, but blankets may, in emergency, be used instead. Make a right-angled frame, down to the floor. Nail the material to the frame, and cover the door. If there is time a similar arrangement on the inside of the door will help, and the material should be smothered with glycerine, fat, or even water (but not with inflammatory oils like paraffin) to bind its fibre together.

The chimneys are a possible danger. They should be blocked by stuffing a pillow into the blue, impregnated with such alkaline solutions as soap-suds or hypo (if you are a photographer). These will probably neutralise the gases, especially the acid ones, as they seep down the chimney.

It is always possible that a high explosive or gas bomb will burst outside, shattering the glass of the windows. The outside of the window must therefore be protected either by a board or frame of chicken wire to prevent its being broken by bomb splinters. This can be fixed by driving into the bricks or window frame four projecting bolts, preferably with a thread pointing outwards. It may be clamped tight, but not against the window, with the aid of butterfly nuts. Thus in three or four minutes the outside of the window will be splinter-proof.

Another danger arises from concussion. Although a bomb bursting 100 yards away may break your windows by the actual contact of its flying splinters or permeate your house with its gas, the very shock of the explosion may break the glass.

The only remedy for this is the burglar's expedient of pasting layers of newspaper on the glass, preferably on the inside. Thus, even if broken, the glass will be held in position much as safety glass withstands concussion, and the newspapers themselves will afford an additional protection against gas.

The windows are splinter-proof and shock-proof. You must now make them gas-proof. The quickest and handiest way is by a device such as you have used on the doors—soaked anti-gas union cloth or blankets nailed to the window-frame, as far as possible blocking every source of inroad.

The final preparations before the family retires into the gas-proof chamber need only take a few minutes.

You must have a store of cold provisions, water for drinking, water for washing, certain domestic utensils for sanitary purposes, towels, etc.—and preferably books and games to occupy the minds of the younger people.

There should be electric torches available in case the electricity supply fails—not candles, as they consume oxygen. The food should be kept in an ordinary biscuit tin, sealed with adhesive tape and possibly kept in a waterproof wrapper.

In no circumstances must there be smoking in the gas-protected room, in no circumstances a fire. With the chimney flue closed, gas-fires, oil-stoves and charcoal fires will bring death more quickly than the poison gas itself.

An air-tight and gas-tight room such as this, with 100 square feet floor space, will support a party of five for 12 hours without the air becoming objectionable or poisonous.

Our safety must be in our own hands, and, apart from respirators, it is the individual duty of all to make sure that there is a place of retirement.

At present the authorities only request that these simple anti-gas measures be adopted. But unless the public becomes gas-minded, sooner or later they must seek powers to enforce them.

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

After hearing the Government's Budget plans for tempering the wind to the shorn lamb, the Legislative Council appropriately turned its attention to typhoons last Wednesday.

"The fashion in Manila shares seems to change like that for India's hat," says a brokers' weekly report. The price of both usually depends on the gold-digger.

The Government, we notice, is to introduce a "wired wireless" service. This, we presume, will be flexible.

Newspaper heading: "Peak Production." Some of them are just the cutest little things.

Probably the Kowloon express has been named the "Flying Arrow" because it darts into the tunnels.

Old residents say this is the hottest September we have had this year.

There appears to be a curious belief that the dollar will go up. Not up the spout, we hope.

Lettuce-growers have gone out on strike in California. Lettuce hope the endive it will soon be in view.

Next winter's feminine fashions are to be more backless than ever. Hope they won't give affront.

The Hon. Mr. Paterson, during the Council discussion on typhoon risks, said the English language seemed incapable of coping with the situation. He seems to have missed a chance of trying out Gaelic.

The typhoon predicted for to-day seems to have filled up. Now we can go and do the same.

Hongkong's night-life this winter promises to be brighter. Neon plus ultra.

The season is again here when people on the mainland are apt to see stripes before the eyes, especially adjacent to the reservoir.

Jaffa orange-growers want the Arab strike ended so that they can export their crops, but at the same time are assisting terrorists with money. They give us the plop.

"You've Been Reading
The Newspapers," Von Sternberg Told Me

By "FIRST NIGHT"

If you searched the world, you probably find that there's only one man in it who can't stand a bar of the pictures directed by Josef von Sternberg, who made the film reputations of such famous stars as Marlene Dietrich, Emil Jannings, Clive Brook and George Bancroft.

I met that man yesterday. His name is Josef von Sternberg. Hollywood's most picturesque director is in town on a jaunt around the world.

He wears baggy brown trousers and a white coat that reaches to his knees. Since he left Hollywood he has become even more picturesque, for the gingery moustache he wore on his departure has been augmented by a Cap'n Kidd stubble which, he hopes, will grow into a full one by the time he returns to movietown.

When I went to interview von Sternberg yesterday he was just leaving his room at the Hongkong Hotel to see a bit of Hongkong. "What about Marlene Dietrich? I asked, as we entered the lift. "Don't know anything about her. Haven't seen her for two years," he replied. "Didn't you have a row?" I asked, as we went down.

"You've been reading the newspapers," he countered. "Which of your films did you like best?" said I, as we walked out into the Lounge.

"I haven't liked any of them," he replied. "What about the future of the motion picture industry?"

"Twenty million film-goers should be able to answer that question better than I," We walked out on to Pedder Street.

"Well, do you think colour films are coming?" I asked.

"Haven't had anything to do with them," he replied.

"So you prefer the existing monochrome medium?" I said.

"I'll leave that for you to decide. In my leisure moments I paint—in colours. When I'm working at the studio, my medium is black and white. I wouldn't think of abandoning colours in my paintings. As for my work—," He shrugged his shoulders.

Marlene Dietrich became famous when von Sternberg became her director. Two of their films were "Shanghai Express" and "The Blonde Venus". In April, 1932 they created a sensation at Hollywood by refusing to proceed with the production of "The Blonde Venus", on the ground that the part allotted to the actress was inartistic. After much excited talk of litigation a compromise was reached and the film appeared.

of November, with subsequent productions scheduled for January and later in spring of 1937. J. Smith Wright, who was so instrumental in making last two A.D.C. productions such enormous successes, is in charge of production of November play, and reading will probably take place next week. Like Philharmonic, A.D.C. is overwhelmed with offers to take part. Choice of first play not yet definitely decided, will probably be made known next week.

TOP-NOTCH ballroom dancing is a happy forerunner of Grippe's winter programme. It will commence to-night, with engagement of J. A. Andrew, organiser of Hongkong's first ballroom championships in 1933 and former manager of Shanghai's Continental and Little Club, and Miss Pat Sykes, world's professional champion.

New dances they'll demonstrate to-night are Skater's Waltz, original dance conceived by Miss Sykes and famed Maxwell Stewart, 1937 quickest variations. Skater's Waltz is sweeping London, will do same in New York.

WORD ABOUT PAT SYKES: With former partner, Max, Bramwell Stewart, won world championships in professional dance contests on four occasions; won British Professional Championship twice; won All-England Star Championship three times. In fact, won every international dancing contest in which she has entered with Stewart.

JUST space enough left on this Page to recommend "Let's Sing Again", coming to Queen's to-morrow. Apart from story, which is quite pleasant, you should not miss this introduction to filmdom of Bobby Green, Eddie Cantor's radio protégé with the million-dollar voice. Many an adult movie crooner would give their souls for the voice of this child of ten.

Will the winners call it the "Telegraph" Office for their prizes?

Commented for next work are Fred Morley, Manuel Sarracolla, Leo Silva, Margaret Cho, Andrew Chou, Elaine Mok, Louise Gomes, Lawrence O'Hey, Pamela Ho, Celeste Marques, Margie Xavler, Rennie Vas, Lionel Vas, Abbas Alarakia and Leslie Fox, among the Seniors; and Clive Quice, Carlos Sarracolla, Jeremy Bray, Joan Guilmgam, Reginald Martin, S. S. Bux, Therese Gutierrez, Teddy Shuster, Irene Osmond, Joyce Peters, Geraldina V. Ribeiro (Macao), Eileen Peters, Gory Vas, C. S. Coom, Sidney Hollands, Ana Morla Santa Clara (Macao), K. Morrison and Devi Karamchand among the Juniors.

Now, children, this week I'm going to give you a Competition in which you will have to do all the work yourselves, and which will test your skill at painting and drawing.

Seniors (aged 10 to 14) are asked to send in a painting, and Juniors (children under 10) a drawing (not coloured) of any kind of fish they care to choose.

Send in your entries, addressed to Uncle Eddie, c/o "Hongkong Telegraph," so as to reach him not later than 4 p.m. on Wednesday—and don't forget to give your age.

Earthquake steals the thunder in this musical

WE have had many films dealing with the San Francisco earthquake of 30 years ago, but none to compare with this one in brilliance of production or breadth of conception.

The reproduction of the earthquake is a magnificent example of filmcraft.

It lasts in the film for 20 minutes and is overwhelming in its cumulative effect.

At a dramatic moment in the famous Lyric Hall—the scene of some of the most unrestrained entertainments in the San Francisco of a generation ago—the first ominous, deep-throated roar is heard.

There is a moment of agonised silence.

The floor of the hall begins to sway. There is a panic.

A wall falls drunkenly away to reveal buildings across the street swaying still more drunkenly. The sense of utter helplessness in the face of capricious and inescapable disaster is immediately established.

The three leading characters of the drama vanish from sight. The roar of the first shock dies away, to be replaced by the moaning of those buried under masonry.

One of our characters emerges from the chaos. He cries for his friends. There is no answer. He staggers into the street. Through his eyes we see the devastation of the city. He wanders crazily to meet others more crazed than himself.

The extent of the disaster is brought home not by enormous scenes of whole streets in ruins but by personal tragedies and scenes of unrestrained joy at a realisation of safety. Here is a man demented at finding his wife dead. Here is another man overjoyed to find his wife alive.

Happiness and horror sweep across the scene like sunlight and shadow swift as thought over an April landscape.

Much of the credit for the success of "San Francisco" must also be given to Woodbridge Strong Van Dyke, who as a youth acted as assistant to David Wark Griffith in "Intolerance," and as a man directed "The Thin Man."

Kowloon Dockyards Secure Contract To Build Two Steamers WILL BE USED IN BURNS PHILP'S SOUTH SEA SERVICE

"Telegraph" Staff Reporter

THE "Telegraph" is informed that a contract for the construction of two steamers for the Burns Philp South Sea Island trade has been secured by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dockyard Company.

The steamers will be constructed at the Kowloon Dockyards.

They will be of moderate size and will be launched next year. The "Telegraph" forecast four months ago that this contract would be secured by a Hongkong company.

Mr. Corrigan, Superintendent Engineer of Messrs. Burns Philp and Company, has been in Hongkong for six months in connection with the construction of the vessels.

When completed they will be sent to Rabaul, in New Guinea, which will be their headquarters. They will maintain a service between Rabaul and the South Sea Islands, linking up with Messrs. Burns Philp's New Guinea-Australia service and the Australia-Rabaul-Hongkong service. The latter service is maintained by the steamer Neptuna, formerly of the N.D.L. line.

Earlier this week a 75-foot schooner, built for one of Messrs. Burns Philp's clients in New Guinea, was launched at the Kowloon Docks.

The christening ceremony at the launching of the Induna being performed by Miss Moira Corrigan, daughter of Mr. A. Corrigan, Marine Superintendent of Messrs. Burns Philp & Co., Ltd.

The Induna was constructed for service in Rabaul, and has a beautiful curved wooden hull, a head of a woman on her bow. The hull is of teak, and her dimensions are 61 ft. overall, 20 ft. beam and

ft. 10 ins. depth. For the carriage of copra, holds are fitted forward and aft of the motor room. The crew will be accommodated forward, and the officers in a tank house on the deck aft. Although the Induna will be used principally as a sailing vessel, a Ruston Lister three cylinder Diesel engine of 90 B.H.P. running at 800 R.P.M. has been installed for auxiliary purposes.

Crazy Things the World Still Does

By H. W. SEAMAN

IN the golden days when dance marathons, pole-squatting feats, and long-distance kissing competitions were filling the front pages, prophets of doom went about saying that the world was crazy.

To-day wars, revolutions, pestilences, famines, and political upheavals have driven all such antics into the dim background.

But the world at heart is still as crazy as ever.

And here are a few choice bits of news I've collected to prove it.

Herr Holz, a commercial traveller, of Cologne, according to a cable just received from that cultured city, collects old socks. His most cherished items are a pair of socks worn by an Armenian philosopher in 1100 B.C., and a pair of green stockings that Henry the Eighth once wore.

Mooray for Herr Holz! If all other Germans were like him we should have no need to worry about the reformation of Heliogoland.

SLAUGHTER AT WEDDING

A Turkish peasant in Southern Anatolia ran amok the other day and, with the help of his nephew, slaughtered 14 people at a wedding.

If that had been a political massacre instead of an ordinary crazy affair it would have been chronicled all over the world. And thank heaven for Hollywood! Stars who get only $200 a week are finding it difficult to make ends meet. By the time they have paid taxes, agents, managers, publicity, wardrobe, and advertising costs, they are nearly as broke as you and I.

SEA MONSTER

Do not let your thoughts go back to Spain or Palestine for a minute or two. The tale of the sea-serpent, 40 feet long, which has been sighted by no less a personage than the ex-Lord Mayor of Norwich, Alderman H. E. Witard, off the Norfolk coast. Last seen heading south at 50 miles an hour, lashing his tail and rolling his great eyes.

There is the sea monster, 40 feet long, which has been found floating in the sea off Singapore.

British and Dutch scientists are rivals for the possession of the carcass. If they don't settle the quarrel soon the inhabitants of the small island where it is beached will push it back into the sea and clear the air.

It has tusks 12 ft. long, a greenish black skin, and ears like an elephant.

Oh, for a Barnum! Oh for a respite from wars and revolutions, and a return to healthy craziness! All these things show that the crazy, golden age, to which we now look back with regret, is not dead, but is kept alive, here and there, by neolithic spirits whose brilliance is only momentarily eclipsed by such sober clowns as soap-box orators, wearers of gloomy shirts, and professors of political economy.

"Wired" Wireless Protest

UP TO UNOFFICIALS, SAYS READER

To the Editor of the "Telegraph"

Sir,—My humble apologies to FAN LING for omitting the Hongkong Singers from my list of societies which should be represented on the Hongkong Broadcasting Committee. I entirely agree with him. I suggested the A.D.C. because a sense of the Theatre seems conspicuously absent from ZBW presentations.

The astounding announcement that the Government intends to spend more money next year for "Wired Wireless" than would buy a badly needed Blattnophone, simply makes one gasp. As you state, the telephone company did not make a success of it, and if a commercial firm cannot, certainly one cannot expect the Government to do so! I believe one of the telephone company's difficulties was that it is not economical to provide a service, unless several people in one area wished to avail themselves of it. In any case, how does the Government intend to finance this service? Is it going to lay its own lines to subscribers? Where will the money for this come from?

How the Government can have the "face" to put forward such conditions as being against receiving the local station, as an excuse for purchasing this Radio-Diffusion instrument is beyond me. True, in parts of the Colony reception of the local station is not as good as in others. I live in one of the bad parts myself—but a recent neighbour could obtain good reception with a Japanese $25 set.

I hope some of our Unofficials will live up to their designation, as representatives of the people of this Colony, and insist on the vote for this instrument being diverted to purchase a Blattnophone.

CORRESPONDENCE

Who's To Blame?

To The Editor
Hongkong Telegraph

Sir,—Father Woodcock's spate of propaganda directed against the people of Spain who are defending their country against Fascism will deceive no-one. War of any kind is devilish. The war waged by Italy against an almost undefended people, the Ethiopians, was so. But perhaps even that war, to the mind of Father Woodcock, was justifiable. One must expect atrocities in any country where Civil War is let loose. In every country throughout the world there is a sum of humanity, of all shades of political opinion, rich and poor, Christian and anti-Christian; but to my mind the worst of all are those who worship two Gods—God and their presumed Creator and God Money.

Although not agreeing with the principles of Communism, I am quite sure that the Communists of Spain as a whole are not responsible for the outrages and excesses which have been committed in their unhappy country.

The responsibility for all that has happened in Spain lies at the door of those who have caused a revolt against a constitutionally-formed Government.

Entertainment

Philharmonic, And A.D.C. Activities

MAX MALINI AND THE GUINEA PIG

PENDING departure of Mr. J. Smith-Wright will leave a gap in A.D.C.'s Committee which will be hard to fill. Came here from Shanghai last year for three months, lengthened stay to 18 months, will most likely return to Shanghai in November. Departure will be Hongkong's loss, Shanghai's gain. Shanghaianders will welcome with open arms return of amateur who took such active part in their A.D.C. activities prior to coming to Hongkong.

PHILHARMONIC committee-man yesterday handed me list of names of cast for forthcoming production of "Maid of the Mountains." Subsequent frantic telephone messages begged for non-publication. "We've had to make some alterations," said voice of committee-man. So, with exception of Jack Grenham and Ann Winters, cast is apparently again in melting pot. Paucity of good players is not to blame. In fact, Philharmonic's trouble is that they have too many good artists offering this year. Whoever receives leading roles in "Maid of the Mountains" will have good understudies.

FOLLOWING production of "A Country Girl" last year, this Page complained bitterly about Philharmonic's poor co-operation with Press regarding publicity, suggested that incoming 1936-37 Committee should appoint one of their members as publicity man. Philharmonic has taken suggestion to heart, announced yesterday that henceforth Mr. H. Priestley will concentrate Philharmonic activities on publicity work. This move will do much to assure success of "Maid of the Mountains."

ENTERTAINMENT Page's spy has unearthed a tattered copy of Amateur Dramatic Society's Annual Report for 1935-36. It discloses that A.D.C.'s net profit for year was $750.18, towards which "Musical Chairs" contributed $476.56, "Lover's Leap" $273.02. Report describes year as being "fairly satisfactory," renders thanks to those to whom thanks are due.

MAX MALINI is booked for two nights—September 30 and October 1—at Gloucester Hotel, and if you miss these shows, don't blame this Page, for they carry strongest recommendations. Max was telling me the other day story of how a guinea-pig out-magicked him. Just by way of variation at one of his shows, he decided to give the kiddies a break with time-honoured rabbit-from-hat trick. But he couldn't procure a rabbit, the only thing on offer being a guinea pig. The guinea pig was successfully palmed into the top hat, and Max asked one of the kiddies to lift it out.

"But there's four there!" said the kid. "I was the most surprised man in the group!" said Max, in relating the tale.

"MILLION-AIRS ON PARADE"

It was erroneously stated yesterday that the Portuguese amateur artists' show, "Million-Airs on Parade," would be given at the Craigflower Club to-morrow (Sunday). The actual date is Sunday, September 27, at 9.15 p.m.

Millionaire Goes
To Sleep At LastHIS FIRST FOR TWO YEARSLONDON FIRM SENDS
CURE TO INDIA

TEN thousand people have sent "cures" for insomnia to Rai Bahadur Bajorin, a Calcutta millionaire who has not slept for two years. He offers a huge reward for any one who can make him sleep.

The millionaire, after trying hundreds of the "cures" without success, received from a London firm an electrical massage machine which has given him the first real sleep he has had since early in 1934.

A Harley Street nerve specialist's explanation is that the machine produces a rhythmic motion which produces sleep in the same way as a perambulator rocks a baby to sleep. The throb of a ship's engines or the rhythmic knocking sound of a train often has a similar effect.

A FORM OF HYPNOTISM

There are often reputed cures. The author, Mr. De Vere Stacpoole, has just produced one and sent it to the troubled millionaire. He advises a blackened electric bulb which shows only a single spot of light. The mere watching of this spot produces, he says, a hypnotic effect which induces sleep.

A spot of luminous paint on a card or on the ceiling will do just as well. On one occasion Mr. Stacpoole while suffering scintillation wooed himself to sleep by staring at a collar stud!

It is said to be the "dreadful monotony" of these methods which produces sleep.

DOCTORS ARE SCEPTICAL

The medical profession does not think much of these methods. An expert at the West End Hospital for Nervous Diseases says: "Insomnia is not a disease in itself. It is a symptom of either a physical or mental disorder." Proper treatment, he added, would remove it.

Meanwhile Dr. Alexander Cannon is experimenting with putting people to sleep by means of soft music played as slow moving colours pass across a screen. So, with the coming of television in the home it is possible that the B.B.C. will give us coloured slumber music nightly.

An Arresting
Item

TWO young Frenchmen from the Y.M.C.A. international camp at Hatfield Park were having dinner in the restaurant at Horney Y.M.C.A.

They glanced at the menu, a strange look came over their faces and they put down their knives and forks.

They were asked: "What's the matter? Don't you like it?"

The Frenchmen did not reply, but pointed significantly to two lines on the menu, which read:

"Roast Beef and Horse-radish Sauce."

The explanation reassured them and they resumed their meal.

AMELIA GOES
IN FOR TROPHIES

Now this does look a little odd, seeing Amelia Earhart, ace of feminine flyers, chipping for air trophies. But the trophies are not for Miss Earhart, but to be given winners of the women's handicap event which she sponsored in the 1936 National Air Races.

ORIGIN OF MAN IS STILL A MYSTERY

A new theory of the origin of modern races of mankind, based on evidence derived from cave exploration in all parts of the earth, was advanced by Sir Arthur Keith in his presidential address to the British Speleological Association at Buxton recently.

"I have to confess that recent discoveries are upsetting our older ideas," he said. "The new facts, such as they are, do not support opinions usually held concerning the origin of the chief racial stocks of modern humanity. We have discovered many extinct types of humanity but not one which is fit to serve as the common ancestor of modern races."

"We have found no evidence of an outward migration from a common centre," he said. "It does seem now as if the racial territories we are familiar with on our earth are not recent, but very ancient. We are tempted to believe that by the beginning of the pleistocene period some half-million years ago—or more—the ancestors of the Mongol, of the Australian, and of the Negro were already in occupation of the continental areas where we now find their descendants. This is a new conception. Hitherto we have regarded evolving man as unconquerably nomadic."

NEANDERTHAL MAN

Discussing the evolutionary history of the Caucasian, Sir Arthur said the cave explorers had discovered the fossil bones and peculiar culture of Neanderthal man—one of the strangest races or types of man known to us—"right across Southern and Central Europe, from the Atlantic almost to the Caspian."

"It is now clear that towards the end of the last ice age an evolutionary tragedy was enacted in Europe very smaller in nature to that which is taking place under our eyes in the Continent of Australia," he said. "A vigorous people, the early Caucasians, colonised Europe and in the process exterminated its native Neanderthal population."

"Clearly, we have reached a point which compels a radical reorientation of our working theories," he said. "We have to presume that parallel evolution which has been proved to be effective in the evolution of the horse and of the elephant has also been true of man. Such a view serves but to deepen the mystery of human evolution for it implies that, as in the past, the future of each race lies latent in its generic constitution."

MAX FACTOR

Wherever possible use the pencil on hair rather than on skin and work against the direction in which the hair grows. If your face is broad and sturdy it is best to place the greater emphasis on the centre of the brow, toward the nose. If you are eager and thin-faced, you can create an interesting effect by darkening the brows towards the ends. Brush those long hairs down to cover the short, stiff bristles, frequent brushings encourage quicker growth. The ideal span between brows is at least the width of the eye. The average height of the arch over the eye should also be about this distance.

Discoverer Of Windsor Secrets

Windsor, Sept. 5.
MR. ROBERT BURNS ROBERTSON, who discovered secret underground passages at Windsor Castle, is retiring from his position as Chapter Surveyor this month.

He is 75, and was appointed Chapter Surveyor 24 years ago after having been resident architect at the Castle for 14 years.

He supervised the restoration of the interior of the Round Tower to its original form for use as an archives department.

He specially investigated the numerous legends of secret passages, some of which were supposed to run as far as Burham Abbey, seven miles away, while another was thought to run from the heart of Windsor Forest to the banqueting hall.

He actually discovered three secret passages, one on the east front, one on the south side, and another on the west.

THANKED BY KING GEORGE

"In all cases," Mr. Robertson said, "they end in the castle moat which used to run round those three sides and all lead out into what is now the town. I have proved beyond doubt that one that was thought to exist on the northern front has never been there."

The object of the passages is believed to have been for nortle purposes, and, in the event of an attack on the main gate, to enable parties of defenders to leave the castle under the most and take the attackers from behind.

In 1926 Mr. Robertson was personally thanked for his researches by King George and Queen Mary, who presented him with signed portraits.

They Wrote Hymns That Will Never Die

Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee!
E'en though it be a cross
That raiseth me,
Still all my song shall be
Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee.

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee,
Let the water and the blood,
From Thy ripen side which flowed,
Be of sin the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

ANNIVERSARIES of the deaths of two of the most famous hymn-writers in the English language occurred.

On August 11, 1778, the Rev. A. M. Toplady, author of "Rock of Ages," died, and on August 14, 1848, Mrs. Sarah Flower Adams, who wrote "Nearer, my God, to Thee."

Toplady was sheltering from a sudden storm in a cleft running down a mass of rock at Barrington Coombe, Somerset, when he was inspired to write the hymn.

Mrs. Adams was an invalid, and while she lay on her sick-bed was inspired to compose the verses. Passengers and crew sang the hymn in the saloon of the Titanic when she was sinking.

"Sugared" Services Rector Criticises Popular Hymns

"MYSTICISM and water heavily sugared with sentimentality," was the description applied at the Modern Churchmen's Conference at Oxford to some Church services.

The Rev. G. L. H. Harvey, rector and rural dean of Sutton Coldfield, said that some persons had a flair for what was beautiful, dignified and awe-inspiring in ritual and ceremonial.

"They are adepts in the technique of mass psychology," he added. "They induce in a pseudo-mysticism which waits the worshipper into a realm where the doors are bolted against the intrusion of the hard facts and clamant problems of everyday life."

"It finds musical expression in the worst of the more popular mid-Victorian tunes of Hymns Ancient and Modern."

"NO" TO WILL

Bombay, Sept. 3.
Muni Shri Misri Lalji, ascetic of the Jain sect, has been fasting here for one hundred and forty days in an attempt to persuade his co-religionists to settle their sectarian differences. He belongs to the Shikharvad sect of the Jains. This sect has thirty-two sub-divisions whom Lalji has been trying to unite for the past twenty-five years.

According to Yoga claims, it is possible to go without food or water for six months. Two other ascetics, Muni Shri Shivji Maharaj and Muni Shri Banji Mulji, have at one time fasted one hundred and eighty-six and one hundred and eighty-two days, respectively. Lalji's previous fast lasted one hundred and sixty-six days at Jodhpur.—United Press.

Callender, Ontario, Sept. 10.
IN sharp contrast to the luxury which surrounds the famous Dionne quintuplets in their palatial clinic here is the farmhouse life of their six little brothers and sisters a stone's throw away.

Not for them is the searchlight of publicity which brings pilgrims in thousands weekly to worship at the shrine of five little girls whose claim to distinction is that all were born of one mother in one night.

The quintuplets, acclaimed by their native Province "Ontario's Royal Family," live five little princesses under the trusteeship of men unrelated to them, whose overwhelming concern is to see them grow in loveliness, while painstakingly acquiring for them a fortune which will place them among the world's wealthiest women.

The ambitions of the six little brothers and sisters—also the children of Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne, uneducated farming people, who until the advent of the modern miracle lived sparingly on the dole—are limited to three meals a day, their future apparently no different from that of other impoverished inhabitants.

The Dionnes have learned the bitter truth of the Scriptural admonition:

"Man does not live by bread alone." They have more bread, butter, jam, and other things than these symbols than they ever imagined would fall to their lot, but, while the practical people who constitute the majority of Americans and Canadians envy them, they feel themselves the least enviable couple in the world.

Sentimental like all Latins, they—and particularly Mme. Elzire, the youthful mother of eleven children—feel the ache of deprivation. They realise that half of their family is no longer theirs.

PATERNAL INTEREST

Authoritative assertions that but for the Ontario Government's paternal interest the quintuplets would long ago have perished as martyrs to parental selfishness leave them unmoved.

Instead of taking advantage of all the opportunities afforded him as guardian of the quintuplets, Mr. Olivia Dionne vents his resentment against the Government control by absenting himself from meetings, while both he and his wife rebel at the restrictions against handling the infants imposed by Dr. Danco, the country physician whose skill and resourcefulness saved the "Quins" for the world.

$200 GIFT FOR FATHER

Mr. Olivia Dionne receives a monthly allowance of $200 from the quintuplets' funds. On the "Quins" birthday, May 28, $200 was given to him on behalf of his daughters.

He has been granted the privilege to operate a restaurant and souvenir store opposite the quintuplets' nursery. This is expected to bring him hundreds of pounds this summer.

From a theatrical tour of the United States Mr. and Mrs. Dionne have returned the possessors of several hundred pounds.

They made more by selling pictures and souvenirs at the Canadian

Ascetic Fasts For 140 Days In India

Mr. Julius Kayser, a retired steel manufacturer, of Westbourne-road, Sheffield, hoped, before his death last March, that Minnie Garbutt, his nurse, and Eliza Cooper, his housekeeper, would make their home together.

He left more than £55,404, and among his bequests were annuities of £50 and £60 respectively for the two servants.

"I have in mind their making a home together," he wrote in his will. "I am very wishful that they should do so."

But the two faithful servants saw no reason why they should live in the same house any longer. They parted, one to live in Lincoln, and the other in Sheffield.

National Exhibition in Toronto last autumn.

Mr. Dionne drives an expensive and powerful motor-car.

But the Dionne family, excluding the quintuplets, still live in a wooden farmhouse which is of painted a sickly yellowish green and around whose grounds a high board fence has recently been erected.

A notice "No admission" betokens the family's antagonism to popular curiosity which will ultimately bring them a sizeable fortune.

Latest another little Dionne baby boy named Olive after his father, has been added to the family, so that the household now consists of father, mother, six little boys and girl and a maid-servant.

The little Dionnes lead a puzzled existence. Almost as strikingly beautiful as their quintuplet sisters, they are shy as little deer, unable to understand why every passing motorist wishes to halt and engage them in conversation.

MCLEAN'S TRIUMPH IN U. S. GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Wins Through To Final By Eight & Seven

IN GALE Six Up At 27th GOODMAN WINS

Garden City, Long Is.
Sept. 18.

J. McLean, the Scottish international golfer achieved a great triumph to-day when he defeated George Voigt, the American, in the semi-final of the United States open amateur golf championship.

McLean, playing perfect golf under trying conditions, beat his worthy opponent by 8 and 7. He was six up at the 27th.

A howling gale favoured McLean, says Reuter, and he showed excellent form. At the end of the morning round McLean was six holes up on Voigt, and he retained this huge advantage finally to become eight up and even to play.

Johnny Goodman will be McLean's opponent in the final. Goodman beat Fisher 2 and 1, after they had finished the morning round all square. Fisher's final figures were 79 and 82 while Goodman returned 77 and 78. It was stated at the end of the day that owing to the bad conditions the final would not be played until Saturday, but subsequently the United States Golf Association announced the possibility of the match being played on Saturday if the weather clears up.

No final decision will be made until the morning.

The weather bureau says there is no hope for any better weather to-morrow, but that conditions would worsen as the centre of the hurricane moves northward.—Reuter.

New York, Aug. 28.
Max Schmeling, the German heavy-weight, wants £120,000 to fight Joe Louis again.

Schmeling was yesterday on his way to Germany after the failure of a New York bid to match the two men before he sailed. Schmeling was guaranteed £60,000, but wanted double.

The fight between Schmeling and Braddock for the world championship has now been postponed until June 19 owing to Braddock having arthritis in his left hand and elbow.

DRAMATIC VICTORY FOR REES

Whitcombe

Oxhey, Sept. 18.
Dai Rees, the young Welshman, scored a dramatic victory over Ernest Whitcombe in the final of the News Of The World £1,250 golf tournament to-day.

He beat Whitcombe by one up after the loser had led by five holes at the end of the morning round. Rees consistently out-drove his more experienced opponent but Whitcombe was the master in other departments.

Scores at the end of the first round were: Whitcombe 69, Rees 75.

Whitcombe was two up at the 27th, and the match was all square at the 29th. Owing to Whitcombe's putting lapses, Rees secured the lead for the first time by the 31st hole, and he held on grimly to win an exciting match.

Whitcombe had a 73 for his second round while Rees returned a card of 69. Par for the course is 72.—Reuter.

Mr. Ng Sze-Kwong On The Tennis Interport Breakdown

VERY DISSATISFIED WITH SHANGHAI'S DECISION

WHEN yesterday in these notes I hinted that the Hongkong L.T.A. was dissatisfied with Shanghai's decision not to send an interport tennis team here this year, I was writing purely my own impressions. Since then, however, an official and very emphatic statement has been made to me by Mr. Ng Sze-kwong, vice-President of the H.K.L.T.A. in which he strongly deprecates Shanghai's policy. It is Mr. Ng's considered opinion that it was up to Shanghai to send an interport team irrespective of whether it was the strongest representation or not. He insists that the whole idea of the exchange of visits by Colony and Shanghai sports teams is to bolster up friendly relationships between the ports: that the results mean comparatively nothing, and that unless the ports are prepared to make sacrifices, if necessary, in the way of sending weak teams, then the interport contests will be in danger of becoming a thing of the past.

What Mr. Ng Says

HERE is what Mr. Ng Sze-kwong says about the whole affair. "I feel very dissatisfied with Shanghai's refusal to send a tennis team to us this year. We all know the difficulties of raising the best team for visits either to or from Hongkong, but the main idea of these interport and sporting relationships between Shanghai and Hongkong. The winning or losing of an interport contest must be a secondary consideration, so that a port should make every effort to send a team no matter whether it can or cannot turn out the best or second best players. The same difficulties of team-raising is experienced with the cricket and lawn bowls interports, but they don't wait until they have the very best teams at their disposal before entering into the tennis interport series alive that Hongkong sent teams to Shanghai in 1931 and last year: yet on neither occasion was the Colony fully represented. Both teams knew they were doomed to defeat, but at least they endeavoured to fulfil the main object of the interports by going to Shanghai. If we wait for our best players to be available for these trips we shall have no interports at all." Mr. Ng Sze-kwong said he was speaking on behalf of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association, and he wished his views on this question to be made known to the public.

Danger Of Extinction

THE danger of the tennis interports simply fading out of existence is no idle speculation by Mr. Ng Sze-kwong. We have had the threat more than once in the past. For example the contests suddenly ceased in 1924 and were not resumed until 1929, when the gallant Dr. Tottenham took up a team to Shanghai which was well below the Colony's full strength. But it had the merit of re-awakening the tennis consciousness of both ports and there were further interports in 1929, 1931 (after a year's lapse), 1932, then two years lapse, with a resumption last year. The ladies' contests were in grave danger of going out of existence when no competition was staged either in 1932, 1933 or 1934. And even after that period it was left to Hongkong to send a team to Shanghai for the second successive time. Shanghai last sent a ladies' team to the Colony in 1929. It is this type of lapses which Mr. Ng Sze-kwong feels threatens the existence of tennis interports between Shanghai and Hongkong, and is why he feels that Shanghai should have sent a team down this year. The perpetuation of these interport contests has a very definite value to tennis in both ports, even though it often means the visiting team is not fully representative.

Another Lawrence In The Making

WILFRED Lawrence again won the 220 yards free-style swimming championship of the Colony yesterday. It was expected he would, and the fact that he received but slight opposition possibly accounted for his time which, although good, was nothing out of the ordinary. More interesting from various viewpoints was the success of youthful L.M. Remedios in the 100 yards free-style junior championship of the Victoria Recreation Club. Here is a second Lawrence in the making. A youngster with a smooth but powerful action, who cleaves his way through the water with astonishing speed. Although up against big opposition such as F. Nolasco Silva, Lieut. Calvert and J. da Sousa, Remedios was looked upon as a good thing for the race in view of his wonderful swimming last Tuesday in the heats of the 100 yards free-style handicap, when Remedios went off at 20 in this race, while gas Noronha the ultimate winner a length of the bath start. Yet Remedios swam so strongly that he finished a very fine second. He maintained a terrific pace all the way, his powers of endurance being just as impressive as his splendid action. One does not hesitate in predicting a fine future for this young swimmer.

Shanghai Cricket Interport Selections

MADAR AND A.T. BRIDGE

Shanghai, Sept. 13.
The Interport Selection Committee announced yesterday that P. Madar and A. T. Bridge had been selected to play in the interport match against Hongkong in October. This brings the total up to eight, leaving three vacancies still to be filled. The eight are A. J. Barson, R. Booth, A. T. Bridge, M. J. Divecha, J. B. H. Leckie, P. Madar, H. V. Parker, and L. F. Stokes.

The tentative interport arrangements are that Hongkong will arrive on October 4. The interport match will start on Tuesday, October 6, and the following two days, October 7 and 8, will be set aside for its completion. On Saturday, October 10, Hongkong will play the Shanghai Recreation Club, and on October 12 the Rest of Shanghai.

Shanghai now has a wicket-keeper, an opening bat in L. F. Stokes, four bowlers of much the same pace in R. Booth, J. B. H. Leckie, Parker, and Stokes, and two slow bowlers in Divecha and Madar.

G. Chatterton, who made another fine score yesterday, is now sure to be strongly considered as an opening bat with Stokes. Shanghai could also do with a fast bowler and three possibilities are H. Meston, H. B. Cochran, and J. C. Lucas. In the Wood Trophy match last week-end Cochran scored 15. F. R. Kermani is another strong S. R. C. candidate. He is a left hand spin bowler and a useful bat. He made 34 in the Wood Trophy match. Slow bowlers have often proved more effective than fast against Hongkong.

MOTOR RACING IN SHANGHAI

First Meeting on October 18

TESTS TO BE MADE

Sporting enthusiasts, both foreign and Chinese, have another thrill in store next month—motor car racing. The Far Eastern Automobile and Motor-cycling Racing Association, with offices in the National City Bank Building, are the sponsors, and in addition to motor car racing, they hope to arrange motor cycle and bicycle races.

Definite arrangements have been made with all interested parties and the Far Eastern (Ying Zang Hsiong) Race Course has been chosen for the first meeting which will take place on Sunday, October 18. There will be nine races in all—three with each type of vehicle. Qualifying heats in motor cars will provide additional sport, with from eight to twelve finalists in each event.

Full details regarding conditions, such as cubic capacity of cylinders, number of cylinders and stripping of machines will be made public later.

The races are open to amateurs only—all professional or semi-professional drivers being barred. Contestants are to furnish their own machines and must pass qualifying physical tests by competent physicians under the auspices of the Association. Motor cars and motor cycles likewise, must undergo thorough mechanical tests before being allowed on the track. The committee in charge will take every precaution, it will be noted, for the safety of drivers and spectators.

A large group of foreigners and Chinese have consented to act as sponsors for this meeting, while the Municipality of Greater Shanghai have given their consent to hold the races on the Yangtzeppa course. The names on the committee of sponsors will be made public shortly, as will conditions for racing and status of contestants.

It is announced that the China National Aviation League will be the richer by fifteen per cent. of the profits of the first meeting.

LOCAL CRICKET

TAMAR BEATEN IN FIRST MATCH

Cricketers from H.M.S. Tamar commenced their season with a match against the Royal Army Medical Corps at Happy Valley on Thursday. After an interesting game, the Medicals won by 98 runs with only 10 minutes to spare.

For the winners, who scored 177, Pte. Flint was outstanding with a contribution of 63. He exercised a variety of strokes and scored freely all round the wicket, making 50 in 16 minutes. Pte. Allen, with 38, and Pte. Gantzer, 31, helped to swell the score. Ted. Tufnell was the only bowler from the Tamar to be really effective and captured seven wickets for 23 runs.

In reply, the Tamar scored 84, Pte. being top-scorer with 23. The sailors' colours were due chiefly to the fine bowling of Pte. Gantzer, who sent back six batsmen for only 12 runs.

ARMY v. NAVY

WHOLE-DAY MATCH ARANGED
FOR TO-MORROW

The Army will meet the Navy in a cricket match at King's Park to-morrow commencing at 11 a.m. In the absence of Capt. D. W. Purser, the Army captain, Capt. L. J. Welch will lead the side. The following players will turn out for the Army: Lieut. Col. W. T. Crawford (R.A.), Major H. A. Davies (R.W.F.), Major F.J.R. Mitchell (Volunteers), Capt. L. J. Welch (R.A.S.C.), Capt. B. Mitchell (R.A.), Lieut. E.D.D. Wilson (R.U.R.), Lieut. J. Drummond (R.U.R.), Lieut. B. J. Scott-White (R.U.R.), Lieut. I. C. Harris (R.U.R.), Private Humphreys (Volunteers) and Private Frost (Volunteers).

FIVE STRAIGHT-SETS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Young American Player's Remarkable Record

New York, N.Y.—Robert L. Riggers, the youthful Californian tennis player, has this year won the final rounds of five tennis championships in straight sets. His triumphs included winning the National Clay-Court title, Wilmer Hines, Frank Parker, Charles Harris, Gregory Mangin and John Law are the finalists Riggers has defeated without dropping a set to win the Missouri Valley National Clay-Court championships.

His only defeat in championship tennis this season was at the hands of Frank Parker in the final of the Spring Lake (New Jersey) invitation tournament.

BENEDICTS RULE THE AMERICAN RING

Top Five All Married
Men

New York, N.Y.—For the first time in the history of the American ring the heavy-weight field is dominated by married men. The Ave boxers generally considered the best heavy-weights on the scene to-day are all married, and two of them have families.

James J. Braddock, the heavy-weight champion of the world, is married and the father of three children. Jack Sharkey also has three children.

Schmeling is married to the actress Amy Ondra. Max Baer is married. Joe Louis is married. None of these three have children.

"Fans don't get excited about married men fighting," one American sports writer remarks. "They don't think married men and fathers can fight except at home. And there they lose any way."

NEWS IN PHOTOGRAPHS

Scene in a San Francisco courtroom at the opening of the trial of two physicians charged with conspiracy to commit mayhem in connection with the alleged sterilisation of Ann Cooper Hewitt, diminutive heiress to the Peter Cooper Hewitt light millions. Left to right: August Fourtner and Harmon Skillin of the prosecution; Dr. Tilton E. Tillman, and to his left and rear, Dr. Samuel Boyd, defendants; Harry McKenzie and Isadore Golden, defence attorneys. Also charged in the case is the mother, Mrs. Mayon Cooper Hewitt, at liberty in New Jersey under bond awaiting extradition proceedings.

Custody of Edith Fellows, 13-year-old heiress, is the object of a court fight in Los Angeles between the girl's mother, Mrs. Harriet Fellows, and her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows.

Maria Wendt, Eurasian girl held in Los Angeles on smuggling charges, is believed to be the key to a huge narcotics ring operating in the United States. She escaped once and was returned from New York. Her mother was one of the wives of the last governor-general of Tibet.

Ann Cooper Hewitt, heiress to the Peter Cooper Hewitt light millions, went on the witness stand in a San Francisco courtroom to press charges against two doctors that they performed an operation which deprived her of motherhood. Her mother is accused of complicity in the case.

CURRENCY LAW CHANGES

LOCAL ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Currency Ordinance, 1935.

Clause 2 of this Bill makes an addition to Section 5 (5) of the Currency Ordinance, making it clear that any security which a note issuing bank was previously required by Ordinance or Charter to be held in silver or bullion against its Hongkong notes, whether issued before or after the commencement of the principal Ordinance, may be held, as from such commencement, in certificate of indebtedness. This addition reads:

"Notwithstanding anything contained in the Ordinances or Charters relating to the note issuing banks, any security, which is required by the said Ordinances or Charters or otherwise to be held in silver coin or silver bullion against their Hongkong notes, whether issued before or after the coming into operation of this Ordinance, may be held in certificates of indebtedness instead of silver coin or silver bullion. But nothing."

EXCHANGE FUND EXPENSES

Clause 3 adds a new sub-section to Section 6 of the principal Ordinance making it clearer what expenses may properly be charged to the Exchange Fund, and also adds words to the proviso to Section 6 (3), to be renumbered as section 6 (4), making it clearer that that proviso is not to be interpreted so as to limit the amount of the certificates of indebtedness to be issued by the Treasurer.

The new sub-section to Section 6 reads:

There shall be charged to the fund—

(a) expenses incidental to the purchase or sale of silver and its shipment to or from Hongkong;

(b) expenses incidental to the remuneration, cost of passages and superannuation in respect of officers employed in connection with the management of the fund including any appropriate share of such expenses in respect of the services of officers of the Government so employed as part of their duties; provided that the number of the appointments and the rates of emoluments of such staff have been approved by the Governor and the Secretary of State; and

(c) any expenditure which the Governor may approve as necessary for the due performance of the duties laid upon the Treasurer and the Advisory Committee in connection with the operation of the fund.

500,000 People Can't Sleep

LAST MONTH RAI RAHA-DUR RAMJIDAS BAJORIA, AN INDIAN MILLIONAIRE, OFFERED $10,000 FOR THE BLESSING OF SLEEP.

To-day, according to Mr. Philip Inman, chairman of Charing Cross Hospital, there are half a million people in Britain who would give years of their lives for the same thing.

Rai Bajoria, and those half-million, are literally dying of lack of sleep.

Yet sleeplessness is not a disease at all. It is the result of something that, in many cases, doctors can cure. Mr. Inman said: "If you are suffering from insomnia the first thing to do is to find out what is the matter with yourself."

"It may be nervous trouble, rheumatism or some other ailment. It may be worry."

"In many cases doctors can cure your trouble. If it's worry, put it out of your mind. Take that advice and you'll soon be sleeping as sound as a babe."

"My advice to sufferers is to live as natural a life as possible. Plenty of exercise, and clean living will ensure good sleep."

"Hundreds of people take their lives because, lying awake, their troubles seem a hundred times magnified," Mr. Inman added.

"If they would only see a doctor and cure the cause of insomnia, they would see life in a happier, and normal, perspective."

Bomb Planted In Japanese Restaurant

Canton, Sept. 18. The Chinese press reports that the Japanese Consul at Swatow has located a protest with the Chinese authorities in connection with the discovery of an unexploded bomb in a Japanese restaurant there.

The Japanese are reported to have claimed that the bomb was placed by Chinese.—Reuter.

PEAK TRAMWAY NEW STATION AT MACDONNELL ROAD

The thickly populated area round Macdonnell Road, mid-levels, will benefit from an innovation introduced this week by the Peak Tramway Company, which has built a landing platform there where trams will stop on request.

The new stop was instituted, it is stated, because the Company felt that the amount of traffic would justify its inauguration. It had been suggested to them by residents of the district that such a feature would be welcome.

The new stop is a permanent one, and should prove of great benefit to travellers to this level who formerly had to walk from the Bowen Road or Kennedy Road stop, or take a taxi or chair from town.

His Majesty the King has approved the provisional appointment of the Hon. Mr. W. H. Bell to be temporarily an Unofficial Member of the Executive Council in the place of the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, who is temporarily absent from the Colony.

His Majesty the King has approved the provisional appointment of the Hon. Mr. M. T. Johnson to be temporarily an Unofficial Member of the Legislative Council in the place of the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, who is temporarily absent from the Colony.

Mr. H. H. Fantham has been appointed a member of the Pilgrage Board of Examiners during the absence of Mr. V. Fetherick.

Two cases each of Diphtheria and Typhoid were reported to the local Health authorities on Thursday.

CARDINALS HOPES GO

WARNEKE BLANKS
EX-LEADERS

New York, Sept. 18. The St. Louis Cardinals have sunk so far below the New York Giants that they now have no hope of winning the National League pennant. The Cards, who led the League almost half the season, were blanked by Warneke of Chicago to-day, who held them to three hits. The Cubs scored three runs on nine hits.

In the American League, Detroit beat Cleveland six to three, Gehlin hitting a homer.

St. Louis Browns outpaced Chicago White Sox, Bottomley's homer deciding the issue. The score was six to five, each team hitting ten times.—Reuter.

GOVERNOR AT CANTON INFORMAL LUNCHEON PARTY GIVEN

Canton, Sept. 18. Sir Andrew Caldecott spent the morning lightseeing, accompanied by Mr. Li Fung, Secretary of the Municipal Government. The party visited the Dr. Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall, the 72 Martyrs Museum and Sun Yat-sen University.

The Hongkong Governor then attended an informal luncheon at the Municipal Government House given in his honour by General Yu Han-mow (the Canton Commander-in-Chief), General Huang Mo-sung (Kwangtung Provincial Chairman) and Mr. Tseng Yang-fu (Mayor of Canton).

Other guests present included Mr. C. Rogers, the British Treasury official, the British Consul-General, Mr. H. Phillips, General Hsing Han-ping (Assistant Commander-in-Chief of the Fourth Route Army), and Hsu Ching-tang (Chief-of-Staff to General Yu Han-mow), Mr. T. L. Soong (Special Finance Commissioner for Kwangtung) and Mr. Philip K. C. Tsui (Special Delegate for Kwangtung and Kwangsi).

Mr. Li Fung represented the Mayor, who could not attend on account of illness.—Reuter.

Sir A. Caldecott's Tribute

Canton, Sept. 18. The friendliest spirit characterised the luncheon party given by the Municipal Government, which was a most impressive function.

In a speech of welcome the Governor of Kwangtung Province, General Wong Mo-sung, expressed gratification at the increased friendship between Britain and China as evidenced by the visit of His Excellency Sir Andrew Caldecott, and he hoped that future relations between Hongkong and Canton would be marked by closer co-operation.

Responding, Sir Andrew Caldecott thanked the Chinese leaders for their warm reception and generous hospitality. He had been greatly impressed by the magnificence of the Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall and by the Sun Yat-sen University. The speeches were ably interpreted by Mr. Li Fung, Secretary to the Municipal Government.—Reuter.

Generalissimo Visits Shamen

Canton, Sept. 18. An occasion unique in the history of South China was witnessed this evening when the Generalissimo arrived by launch from Whampoa and landed at the British Consulate of Shamen to attend a dinner given in his honour by Mr. Herbert Phillips, British Consul General, at which Sir Andrew Caldecott was also an honoured guest.

The Generalissimo reviewed at the Jetty an Indian guard of honour and was greeted by the British Chief of Police and British Consular representatives and escorted to the Consulate with due ceremony.—Reuter.

COMING WEDDINGS

The following forthcoming weddings are announced: Mr. Knud Michael Heim Petersen, master mariner, Chinese Maritime Customs, Marina House, and Miss Rachel Irene Norregard Andersen, of Molskade 6, Arhus, Denmark, who is en route to the Colony per m/v. Javut; Mr. Eduardo Nicolas, musician, of 12 Lock Road, ground floor, Kowloon, and Miss Olga Corina de Jesus, of the same address.
